Jim and Chris,

We have been trying to reach you today to determine where things stand with respect to all the outstanding scheduling issues. In particular, we need to know whether your client will agree to a short extension of the deadline for TAE's response to the motion to enforce. Please contact one of us today. Thanks. My cell number is below if you aren't able to reach me in the office.

Jim, attached is a copy of the discovery that we went ahead and served today. Although we are still discussing an agreed schedule and mutually acceptable evidentiary hearing date for your motion to enforce, we wanted to go ahead and get the discovery we will need to you. This is the same discovery we would seek in connection with the arbitration proceeding if the judge determines that the dispute should go to arbitration. Please let us know as soon as possible about scheduling the evidentiary hearing on January 20 or 21 or the first week in February. Although the court had those dates open when we called yesterday, I am a little concerned that we end up agreeing on a date only to have the court then tell us that the date is no longer available. Finally, I believe that our deadline to respond to the motion to enforce may be on Monday, December 9. Can you agree to an extension of a couple of days while we try to work out the scheduling issues? Thanks.
